Christmas Bazaar 2007

Thanks to many months of preparation, the annual St. Bride's Christmas Bazaar brought in $5,890, all of which will go to charity...

This year, patrons entered into the beautifully renovated café, whose young wait staff—mature beyond their years—and hard-working cooks kept the joint a jumpin'. During lunch, the burger meisters joined with friendly competition and mighty delicious smoked dogs. A steady stream of shoppers flowed through the rooms which offered numerous crafts, decorations, gift baskets, gently-used items, and baked goods, and then sailed home satisfied with good bargains and tasty treats.

The bazaar committee expresses sincere gratitude to all volunteers and contributors for their hard work, good ideas, and helpful support.

-Robert Kennedy

Second Time Around Shop was handily run by Darlene.

Busy shoppers and workers took out time to enjoy the menu items at the Bazaar café.

Helpers!

“From the Heart” introduced a new product this year: hand-woven baskets under the direction of Deb Abell. Janey, Deb and Mary C were happy to have a hand in selling.

Some of the able wait-staff.

And who is this merry ol' elf?

The food and the tree were good buys and da kid is happy too!

Happy vestrymen? Well, why not? The rest of the crew were happy. Mary Lovell, Jack and Steve enjoy the good times.

It was fitting that Amy donned a crown of sorts. After all she had just won the boodle—a stay at the beach courtesy of Kristen Sawyer and family.

Our Mission Statement

St. Bride's witnesses to the Catholic faith as practiced in the Anglican tradition. This includes living within the Catholic pattern of worship, doctrine and action; making full use of the Book of Common Prayer; and basing our spiritual life in the threefold rule of prayer – Holy Eucharist (Mass), Daily Office, and personal devotions.

We strive for a strong and full Christian life – in liturgy, service, evangelization, justice, spiritual formation and parish fellowship.

We seek revitalization of ourselves and invite others to share in this renewal based upon practical application of the Catholic faith to contemporary needs.
